Submission Guidelines for Galaxy Anthologies

For your convenience, here are the submission guidelines for the Galaxy series of science fiction and fantasy anthologies. For details about each individual anthology, or if you have any questions, please contact me by email:

grant@clarendonhousebooks.com

The Intention of Galaxy Anthologies

The intention of this series of Galaxy anthologies is to provide a regular, published venue for science fiction and fantasy from all over the world. For an individual author, this potentially provides an ongoing marketplace for their science fiction and/or fantasy. The benefits for an author of appearing in a Galaxy anthology include

- the credibility that comes from being independently published, as opposed to self-published
- the higher production standards associated with independent publishing
- a wider reading audience
- the building of a 'track record' as a published author to help with future submissions elsewhere
- the boosting of personal confidence and strength of voice which comes from being recognised as a publishable author.

As described below, some classic sci-fi and fantasy stories are sometimes part of the anthologies.

Galaxy is published bi-monthly.

What I'm Looking For In General

I'm looking for well-crafted tales. That means stories which have been designed to appeal to readers through the use of accepted forms, archetypes and structures — ideally using the universal storytelling methods outlined in How Stories Really Work. Read science fiction and fantasy widely before submitting. Submit only your BEST work.

Galaxy anthologies, in addition to including accepted stories, sometimes contain several classic, publicly available science fiction and fantasy tales by world famous authors. So an author accepted into a Galaxy anthology is 'rubbing shoulders' with the greats. Try to live up to that association. Great stories can be engendered in the company of great authors— or that's the idea, anyway.

How To Submit

I accept submissions through Clarendon House Publications and its email address:

grant@clarendonhousebooks.com

Please don't post me anything, as I work through email only.

I need stories sent to me as Word documents. Anything more exotic will be refused. PLEASE ALSO INCLUDE IN THE SAME (NOT SEPARATE) DOCUMENT A 100 WORD AUTHOR BIO (with links if you wish).

This is to save time later, if your submission is accepted.

Clarendon House Publications is based in the UK, but I accept submissions from authors all over the world, as long as they are in the correct format outlined above.

No submission fee is required.

Please submit ONLY ONE STORY to each anthology. This is to ensure that there is enough space for other authors.

I understand if you want to submit to more than one publisher at a time, but obviously I must know IMMEDIATELY if a story you've submitted to me has been accepted elsewhere.

Editing Submissions

It is a condition of submission that the author must be open to me correcting punctuation, spelling, grammar or any other technical basics without always contacting him or her.

If I have suggestions on how to improve a story in order to get it published, I will write back to the author and discuss things. As an editor, I am here to help authors make it, and all suggestions will be made with that in mind. If, after receiving feedback, the author does not wish to proceed, that is fine and will not bar future consideration for publication. It is obviously in the author's best interests to ensure that the submission is in the best possible shape prior to sending it to me. If the submission takes too much time to fix, it is likely to be rejected. It also follows from this that submissions must be the FINAL version as far as the authors are concerned — I will not be able to entertain any adjustments to documents (other than proofreading fixes as above) once they have been received.

Anthology Format

Anthologies are available in paperback and ebook formats from Amazon. There may also be full-colour illustrated versions available later, downloadable as a pdf from the Clarendon House website. Please note that I cannot consider anything with illustrations or photographs.

Deadlines

Galaxy submissions can be sent in at any time. If not in time for the edition in progress, they may be considered for publication in a later volume.

Rights

When I publish a story, I only ask that it not be tangled up in any other prior agreement and be exclusive to Clarendon House for one year after the date of publication. I don't ask for other rights, or place any limits on what you can do with your story after the exclusivity period. This is to encourage sales of a particular anthology.

Copyright

Copyright remains with you at all times.

Word Count

Maximum word count for each story will be 3,000 words. No minimum.

Censorship

Nothing sexually or violently graphic or gratuitous will be accepted.

Payment

Each accepted author receives a free e-copy of the complete anthology publication by email. As you can imagine, in an anthology with possibly 50 or more authors, monetary payments to each author are not feasible or viable.

Marketing

I strongly recommend (but do not insist) that each accepted author ideally purchase THREE copies of the paperback book once released — one for their own collection (it's important to validate one's own progress as a published author); one for a family member, friend, or influencer; and one for their local library.

If this is done, the marketplace grows for every author included in each volume. But purchases will depend upon each author's budget and intentions, I understand that. Other marketing advice includes using social media to spread the word, contacting friends and family, and so on. More about effective marketing (as opposed to time-wasting and expensive marketing) is contained in my book Become a Professional Author.

Response Times

I aim to reply to all submissions within three weeks, although I will sometimes go over this during busy periods. If you're waiting for a reply from me, please keep an eye on your junk mail folder, as some replies do end up there. If you grow concerned, or have any questions about anything, you can always email me at grant@clarendonhousebooks.com

Contract

Submitting work constitutes acceptance of these guidelines as a contractual arrangement.

Please let me know if you have any questions.
grant@clarendonhousebooks.com

What people have said about

CLARENDON HOUSE PUBLICATIONS

J. McCulloch, Author

Clarendon House has what the majority of other publishers lack; the personal touch. Grant Hudson draws people into his cosy library (also known as the Inner Circle Writers' Group), sits them down and works his magic. Many new writers lack confidence in their ability, so Grant fine tunes their perspective, boosts their morale and sets them up to win. I have been humbled by his untiring efforts to help us all. We are his people. He is our mentor, our eccentric English professor and our much valued friend.

D. Taylor, Author

As I was scrolling fb, and seeing all these ads from people claiming to help authors do this and do that, I thought to myself, Grant Hudson is the genuine mentor. Thanks for your solid advice.

P. O'Neil, Author

Grant is the model mentor for this new age of writing.

A. Delf, Author

The world is better with all this beautiful work seen at last.

M. Ahmed, Author

A place where good literature is nurtured.

Brandy Metheney Bonifas, Author

Clarendon House Publications is everything publishing should be. Grant Hudson is a caring editor and mentor who works closely with authors to produce top quality publications, and his writing community, The Inner Circle Writers' Group, is a safe and encouraging environment where established authors share their expertise and new writers are nurtured to spread their wings. I highly recommend!
